'Harvest Holiday" Weekend Is Here

Adams County's fruitgrowers today and Sunday are marking the harvest season with a two day "Harvest Horiday"-including tours through the 18,000 acres of orchard in the county.

Signs have been put up at roads to the "Harvest Trail" so the expected 50,000 visitors can easily tour the fruit area.

A harvest headquarters has been set up in the South Mountain fairgrounds, where visitors can secure guides for tours to orchards and packing At the fairgrounds special displays of machinery and apples are being shown today and Sunday, along with films on apple harvesting and processing. The Apple Queens and their courts will be on hand, and a William Tell Archery contest will be conducted.

County seems to be offered two choices—either to form the entire county into one school district or to divide it into two districts. If it is divided into two districts, some boards have recommended that the dividing line be drawn as shown above. This is "Plan B" that is under study by the County Board of School Directors. It would place Gettysburg, Fairfield and Littlestown Joint School Districts in one administrative unit and all of the rest of the county in the other district. The county's population and pupil enrollment "Plan C" which has been urged by some local boards forms the entire county into one school district.

POSSIBILITY OFSEMINARY MERGER HELD VERY REMOTE

A proposed merger of the Gettysburg and Philadelphia Lutheran Pheological Seminaries appears coubtful, the Rev. Dr. Dwight F. I utman, of Harrisburg, president cf the new Central Pennsylvania Stynod, has declared.

Dr. Putman, writing in the current issue of "The Central Observer," synodical publication, staid there are "evidences of a strong majority mind throughout the synod to let the matter of naerger rest for the time being."

To do otherwise, Dr. Putman said, "would appear to run the risk of stirring up feelings of antagonism and bitterness, there-by endangering the very favorable relations that now exists for developing ways of close cooperation in the future."

25, 26 and 27, This new schedule of performances has been encouraged by Harrisburg Community Theater audiences as "more convenient" and has become the permanent schedule. "The Music Man" is the era of knickerbockers, condemnation of cigarettes and the traveling salesman who was at the other side of every knocked door. Church Rice has the title role of Harold Hill, the salesman extraordinaire, who arrives in River City with his charm sharpened to dupe the citizenry of its cash and to give them a boys' band. River City is bowled over with the Hill charm and willingly gives its youth to be made into the promised boys' band. HARRISBURG (AP) - Three sections of the state will decide who corners the winning margin in the Nov. 6 gubernatorial elec-

That is the one area of agree. ment between the camps of Republican candidate William W Scranton and his Democratic counterpart, Richardson Dilworth. They are urban and suburban Philadelphia; the southwestern bituminous counties (includ ing Pittsburgh), and the northeastern anthracite counties.

FOR KENNEDY IN '60

In 1960 those regions turned in ubstantial margins for President Kennedy. The margin was more han enough to offset Republican nargins elsewhere.

Republicans feel Dilworth will ot have the same appeal that

Kennedy had, Democrats feel that Kennedy nd Dilworth are close enough in appeal to hold much of the party's 1960 margin and they are using President Kennedy himself as heir best argument, with the violent "secret army that was terrorizing the country in an effort to provoke an allout war between Frenchmen and beesed up their roles, and you cerned. Algerians.

"Boy, there were gendarmes and soldiers everywhere," Danny said. "The city was like an SATURDAY armed camp. I enjoyed Paris very much, but I was sort of glad to get out of there.

CRAZY ERECTOR SET

"Doing a television show is tough enough at anytime, but it's even tougher when you think some screwball is going to blow you up or start machine gunning

Marjorie Lord added that despite the expected trouble from the military extremists, Danny did not lose his sense of humor "When we first saw the Enfel Tower, Danny pointed his cigar at it and said, 'What a crazy erector set, eh?' It completely broke up the crew members - the French included."

Featured in the Paris episode is the famed tower as well as Carven's world renowned fashion salon. It was in this setting surrounded by some of the most beautiful clothes in the world that Marjorie enjoyed herself.

"You will see some of the gowns on the show when it airs," she added, "and I'm sure you'll agree with me that they were stunning."

Danny laughed: "I saw the price of some of those costumes. K I had to buy them for my wife Rosemary, I'd be stunned right into bankruptcy.'

ROME AND VENICE

After leaving Paris, the crew went to Rome first and then Venice in Italy. The Rome background for the episode highlights two of the best known landmarks in the world - the Coliseum and the Trevi fountain - where lovers throw in pennies and wish onthem for happiness.

"I threw in two pennies," Danny said with a smile. "I wanted a double portion of good luck." In Venice shots were taken in a gondola on the Grand Canal and also at St. Mark's Square. BOLSTER ROLES

Leonard said in addition to "getting something new for the show' by the European junket, "The Danny Thomas Show" will see the roles of Sid Melton and Pat Carroll bolstered this year.

"Up to now Pat and Sid have
